

Professional Clothing Rails

Hanging rails can accommodate a significant number of items and are a great way of being economical with the use of available space. The rails are sturdy and are designed to withstand ample weight over a long period of time.

A clothing rail is one of the easiest and intuitive ways to store or present stock, enabling you to hang clothes so that they remain crease-free and presentable, while also maximising space.

The rails are easily transportable from one place to the next thanks to castors with low rolling resistance. Being mobile makes the rails perfect for market traders, stores that change layouts on a regular basis, films sets, or wherever convenience and flexibility is needed.

The rails feature a stylish chrome finish, are easy to assemble and require minimal space. The single-rail can be flat-packed for shipping or storage, while the z-shaped double-rail enables compact nesting when not in use.
